The NFPA (National Fire Protection Association) 77 Standard discusses in Section 7-1 the static conductivity needs of various industrial belting. This standard is often referred to by industries susceptible to fire/explosion hazards.

Although not specifically stated, Section 7-1.3 for V-Belts states text generally attributed to the RMA Technical Bulletin IP-3-3. Most all Gates industrial V-belts will meet the RMA specifications.